

Position Statement
Coastal Connector Tollway

Horse Farms Forever opposes the proposed routes of the Coastal Connector Tollway through the most prime Marion County horse farms and especially the Farmland Preservation Area.

Florida's population is growing and with that growth the state's transportation systems will also need to grow. Therefore, it makes sense for the Florida Department of Transportation to conduct feasibility studies of potential routes for these future transportation needs, including the Coastal Connector Tollway.

The Horse Farms Forever position on transportation is clear and consistent.

Any new road projects within the Farmland Preservation Area should use existing rights-of-way. This position aligns with Marion County's Comprehensive Plan Policy 3.3.1 Elements of Rural Character which states: "Transportation: New transportation corridors intended to be used specifically for the construction of expressways or limited access roadways shall avoid the Farmland Preservation Area..."

While Horse Farms Forever does not oppose the concept of the Coastal Connector Tollway, we do oppose the proposed routes through the heart of the most prime Marion County horse farms and especially the Farmland Preservation Area. Our goal is to help the leadership of the FDOT understand the impact of their proposed routes. In our watchdog role, we will continue to closely monitor the situation to assure there are no detrimental impacts to the Farmland Preservation Area.

The mission of Horse Farms Forever is to inspire conservation of horse farms through education, awareness and idea exchange so as to preserve the character and culture that horses and the Farmland Preservation Area make unique to Marion County. We are watchful of government and others to preserve horse farms and farmland for future generations, especially in the Farmland Preservation Area. We are neither anti-growth nor anti-development, rather encouraging urban growth to remain inside the Urban Growth Boundary.
